Al Zaytouna Center for Studies and Consultations issued its strategic assessment about "the Future of the Palestinians of Syria". The report discusses the tragedy that about 630000 Palestinian Syrian refugees were exposed to. Most of the Palestinians of Syria refugees lived in a new Nakba with all similarities and assessments. The report refers to that about 270000 Palestinian refugees resorted to places more safe inside Syria and more than 100000 immigrated out of Syria and the remaining refugees are still living under fire and siege. The assessment report justifies that the possible scenarios on the short term don't give a positive implication to the future of the Palestinians of Syria, whether the conflict continues or the Syrian country detached to ethnic areas, the Palestinians of Syria suffering will continue in addition to the minimization of their number.

The Assessment Report refers that there is a possibility to stop the deterioration of the Palestinians of Syria situation if the conflict parties reached a settlement in support from the international and regional axis which would maintain the unity of the Syrian country. To return back to the previous state depends on a number of factors that are related to the new regime and its power and political approaches and the ability to treat and govern under the out pressures. The developmental unity is still a desired choice but it is elusive in the current stage.

*The assessment report insures that the United Palestinian Reference which own a political vision to parallel the situation of the refugees there and will contribute to failure the projects of demolishing the Palestine cause and the refugees existence in the Syrian camps.
