Latest Developments

Palestinian refugee Majed Fathi Hulweh, aged 19, was arrested by Turkish police on Wednesday, September 4, in Taqseem, in Istanbul, for not holding the kimlik visa card.

Recently, Turkish police stepped down crackdowns and abduction sweeps, targeting irregular migrants and non-holders of the kimlik visa card in Istanbul.

Nearly 2,400 Palestinian families from Syria have sought shelter in Turkey, including 1,200 families in Istanbul, where they have been facing an abject situation.

Khayra Ummah organization estimated that 400 Palestinian families from Syria without kimlik visas have been taking refuge in Turkey, among them 300 families in Istanbul.

In another development, a Palestinian refugee from Syria appeared on September 4 before a court in the German city of Augsburg, after prosecutors charged him with six murder attempts.

Media sources said a so-called Haidar. A. attempted in 2017 to kill a refugee in Horlach village, south of Augsburg, allegedly after the man insulted Islam and Muslims.

During a court hearing, Haidar allegedly attempted to snatch a police gun so as to kill the general prosecutor and judges, before he was rounded up by the police. Haidar received new charges, to which he confessed later on, saying he was not granted a fair trial by the adjudicators.

Meanwhile, Palestinians taking shelter in AlAyedeen Camp in Hama continue to rail against the manipulation of prices and local markets by crooked merchants, amid a striking apathy by the concerned authorities. Taxes imposed by the Syrian government on civilians and merchants have made the situation far worse.

Palestinian families living in the camp have been facing a deteriorating humanitarian situation as a result of the price leap, absence of stable financial resources, the sharp shortage in fuel supplies, frequent power blackouts, and the absence of humanitarian assistance.

High rates of unemployment and the security turmoil rocking the region have made the situation quite alarming.

Founded in 1950, and overseeing the Assi Valley, AlAyedeen Camp is Hama has been home to dozens of displaced Palestinian families who fled the occupied Palestinian cities of Haifa and Akka, among other Israeli-occupied villages.

Meanwhile, three Palestinian brothers have been secretly locked up in Syrian government jails for the 7th year running. Two of them turned themselves in to the Syrian authorities after the pro-government Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP)--General Command (GC) pledged to work out their situation.

Samir Barnawi, born in 1975, was arrested on September 20, 2012, after PFLP-GC turned him in to the government forces. He had served as the commander of an opposition squad in AlTadhamun area, adjacent to Yarmouk Camp.

Fadi Barnawi, born in 1976, was arrested on the same day. Their brother Shadi, born in 1981, was kidnapped from Yarmouk Camp in October 2012.

Several Palestinian relatives and members of the same family have been enduring mysterious fates in Syrian government dungeons, where others have also been tortured to death. Three brothers from the Hamdan family, taking shelter in Yarmouk Camp, and three sisters from Saad AlDeen family, from AlRaml Camp, were killed under torture in Syrian state prisons. The girls were pronounced dead on March 30, 2015.
