Hundreds of the Palestinian displaced families in Qudseyya town in Damascus city , who were displaced from the Yarmouk camp, demanded the Palestinian and Syrian parties to find a solution to their tragedy by braking the Yarmouk camp siege and entering the food and medicine to the camp and to allow them to return to their houses and properties. This demand comes in light of the security deterioration in Qudseyya town between the Opposition forces and the Regular Army which led to close the Qudseyya entrances and preventing the cars and residents to leave frequently.

Turkey

The Palestinian Refugees Public Affairs Commission in the temporary Syrian Government issued a statement about the refugee's conditions in Kilis Center Shelter in Turkey. The statement insured that the commission followed up the affairs of the refugees since two months with the concerned parties to find rapid solutions for the families in the Kilis refugees shelter after the shelter was exposed to rainstorms which resulted in huge damages in the refugees tents.

The statement referred to the need to transfer the refugees to suitable camps that are equipped with the needed basics to face the bad conditions and it became necessary to be secured especially that the commission is not able to tolerate the miserable humanitarian conditions which is increasing each day due to its limited capabilities. The commission declared that all its appeals to the Palestinian Authority and factions in Turkey didn't lead to any result or interference to help hundreds of displaced Palestinian families in Turkey.

At the time of no response from the institutions that consider themselves as national referentiality for the Palestinian refugees, the Commission is carrying the biggest load in following up the conditions of the Palestinian refugees in Turkey. It is worth mentioning that the number of the Palestinians of Syria refugees in Kilis Center Shelter is 900 refugees.
